ORDER

On June 15, 2021, this Court granted the parties' Stipulation and Protective Order Governing the Production and Exchange of Confidential Information (the "Protective Order"), which, in part, provides that "all portions of pleadings, motions, or other papers filed with this Court that contain Confidential Discovery Material" will be filed under seal until further order of the Court. ECF No. 34 ¶ 8. The Court is in receipt of the parties' pre-motion letters concerning their proposed motions for dismissal and partial summary judgment, dated June 18, 21, 25, and 28, 2021, as well as the parties' joint letter pursuant to the Court's initial pretrial scheduling order, dated June 29, 2021, all of which were filed under seal. ECF Nos. 35–39.

The Protective Order does not constitute approval to seal in toto. It specifically allows for sealing only those filings with the Court that contain designated Confidential Discovery Material, and requires redacted versions to be filed on the public docket. Protective Order ¶ 8. It does not appear to the Court that the parties' joint letter and pre-motion letters fall in their entirety within the scope of the Protective Order. Accordingly, the parties' requests to seal ECF Nos. 35–39 are DENIED. By July 23, 2021, the parties shall move the Court to seal or redact the aforementioned submissions in accordance with the Court's Individual Practices in Civil Cases ¶ IV.A.ii. If the parties have not so moved by that date, the Clerk of Court will be directed to unseal the documents.

SO ORDERED.

UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGES: REFERRALS AND CONSENTS

All cases in the Southern District of New York are assigned to two judges: a district judge and a magistrate judge. District judges are appointed for life terms by the President. Magistrate judges are selected by a majority vote of the district judges in the particular district and serve terms of eight years.

Referrals to the Magistrate Judge. The district judge assigned to your case may refer the case to a magistrate judge for specific purposes. Commonly, the referral will be for the magistrate judge to conduct the proceedings that occur before trial, such as resolving discovery disputes or presiding over settlement conferences. A referral may also be made for the magistrate judge to issue to the district judge a report and recommendation on how to resolve a motion, such as a motion to dismiss or a motion for summary judgment. The consent of the parties is not needed for the district judge to refer the case to the magistrate judge for these purposes. If the district judge has made such a referral, you can ask the district judge to review any magistrate judge's decision by filing an objection with the district judge within fourteen days of that decision. The district judge will rule on any timely objections that you file. If you do not file an objection, you will give up your right to challenge the magistrate judge's decision at a later time, including on appeal. See Rule 72 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

Consent to Proceed Before the Magistrate Judge. If you would like your case to move more quickly, it is helpful to consent to proceed before the magistrate judge for all purposes, including any trial. If you consent, the magistrate judge will perform the identical function that the district judge would have performed. Any trial in your case would be either a jury or a nonjury trial, depending upon whether there is a right to a jury trial and a proper request for such a trial. The only difference is that the magistrate judge – and not the district judge – would preside over that trial. Cases that proceed for all purposes before a magistrate judge generally move more quickly than cases before a district judge. If you consent to proceed before the magistrate judge, the district judge plays no further role in the case. Any appeal is taken directly to the Court of Appeals. It is your choice whether or not to consent to proceed before the magistrate judge, and all parties must consent or the case will not proceed before the magistrate judge.

A copy of the appropriate consent form is attached. Additional forms are also available from the Pro Se Intake Unit and on the Court's website.
